Here's our itinerary...

Saturday, December 4, 2010.

Late this morning you'll arrive in New York and will have some free time to grab lunch before your afternoon tour. You'll have a tour of the city which will include stops at New York's spectacular holiday scenery! Bring your camera and comfortable walking shoes as you spend an afternoon exploring this exciting city.

After a busy day of sightseeing you'll check in to your hotel (located in downtown Manhattan). You're free this evening to enjoy the exciting city nightlife!

Sunday, December 5, 2010

Today is your day to finish exploring the parts of the city you didn't get to yesterday - The Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building, Greenwich Village etc. For those of you who are familiar with the city it may be your chance to make the most of all the shopping opportunities offered in New York or to enjoy ice-skating in Central Park or under the Rockefeller Tree!

The Cultural Hi-Ways bus will make some drops around New York to help get you started with your day, and your tour manager will be available to help answer any questions you might have or give you directions. We'll depart for home late this afternoon.
